Elval Showcases at Kormarine 2015, in Korea

Elval exhibited its aluminium applications and technologies at the shipbuilding, maritime, oil&gas exhibition, Kormarine 2015, which was held on October 20 to 23, at the BEXCO Exhibition Center, in Busan, Korea. Busan is the fifth busiest seaport in the world and ten of the world's major shipbuilders operate in Korea.

Since its first event in 1978, this biannual exhibition is gradually becoming the largest show in today's marine industry. Kormarine 2015 extended its interests even further, introducing the Oil & Gas Pavilion at the show for the first time. Exhibitors include more than 1.000 companies from 80 countries as well as national pavilions from 15 major shipbuilding countries, including Australia, China, Denmark, Finland, Denmark, Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherland, Norway, Japan, Korea, Sweden, Singapore, U.K. and U.S.. Commercial visitors exceeded 40.000.

The company's portfolio of high-magnesium products provides excellent solutions for the construction of large or small vessels, such as fishing and patrol boats, pontoons, high speed catamarans, ferries, mega-yachts and LNG vessel applications. All these products present elevated mechanical properties, supreme corrosion resistance and excellent weldability, providing material suitable for exposure to highly corrosive environments such as seawater. Upon request, Elval provides shipbuilding plates certified by all major classification institutions that include the American Bureau of Shipping, Det Norske Veritas, Lloyds Register, Germanischer Lloyd, RINA, Bureau Veritas and Korean Register.
